NAHMA Welcomes Juliana Bilowich

Alexandria, Va., Dec. 1, 2016 — Juliana Bilowich joins the National Affordable Housing Management Association (NAHMA) as its new coordinator of government affairs effective immediately.

Bilowich comes to NAHMA from the Maryland Public Interest Research Group, where she managed statewide issues campaigns. She has past experience working as a congressional intern. Additionally, she gained service experience while working as a teaching assistant in Morocco, as well as a construction crew leader for Habitat for Humanity, and on a farmer training program in Northern New Mexico.

“We are very happy to have Juliana join us at NAHMA,” Kris Cook, CAE, NAHMA executive director, said. “Her past experience will bring knowledge and expertise to our advocacy efforts and all of our government affairs activities.”

As coordinator of government affairs, Bilowich will be an advocate for NAHMA’s policy positions and will meet with Capitol Hill and federal agency staff to convey those positions. She will facilitate the development of public policy positions in coordination with the association’s director of government affairs, committee chairs, members and board of directors. Bilowich will track and monitor federal legislation and regulations related to affordable housing. Additionally, she will distribute legislative and regulatory information to members and serve as a point of contact on government affairs issues, among other duties.

Bilowich can be reached by calling 703-683-8630, ext. 116 or emailing jbilowich@nahma.org.

NAHMA is the leading voice for affordable housing management, advocating on behalf of multifamily property managers and owners whose mission is to provide quality affordable housing. NAHMA supports legislative and regulatory policy that promotes the development and preservation of decent and safe affordable housing, is a vital resource for technical education and information and fosters strategic relations between government and industry. Founded in 1990, NAHMA’s membership today includes the industry’s most distinguished multifamily owners and management companies. Visit www.nahma.org for more information.
