Tax Credit

1. Tax Relief for American Families and Workers Act of 2024 (Bill/Summary)

- Allows for financing of more than 200,000 new rental homes with LIHTC and multifamily Housing Bonds
- State Housing Credit Ceiling Increase for Low-Income Housing Credit - restores the 12.5 percent increase for calendar years 2023 - 2025
- Tax-Exempt Bond Financing Requirement —This provision lowers the bond-financing threshold to 30% for projects financed by bonds with an issue date before 2026. This section provides a transition rule for buildings that already have bonds issued by requiring that a building must have 5 percent or more of its aggregate basis financed by bonds with an issue date in 2024 or 2025. This provision is effective for buildings placed in service after December 31, 2023. In the case of rehabilitation expenditures, which are treated as a separate new building by the IRS, the building is considered placed in service at the end of the rehabilitation expenditures period. The 30 percent requirement is applied to the aggregate basis of both the existing building and the rehabilitation expenditures.

Congress – Funding Uncertainty

- FY24 Funding Bill At a Glance
- $1.25 billion for the HOME Investment Partnerships Program
- $100 million for the second year of the “Yes In My Back Yard” grant program
- $32.4 billion for tenant-based Section 8 vouchers
- $16 billion for the project-based rental assistance program to renew housing contracts
 - $468 million for PBCAs, states: “The agreement prohibits HUD from issuing a solicitation or accepting bids on any solicitation that is substantially equivalent HAPSS 2022....The agreement directs HUD to ensure that any future funding arrangements for PBCAs do not impede housing finance agencies or PHAs from competing on a state-basis. Should HUD determine that a subsequent draft solicitation that is not substantially equivalent to the July 27, 2022 draft solicitation is not feasible, the agreement directs HUD to include a legislative proposal as part of the fiscal year 2025 budget request with detailed analysis for why such changes are needed in order to avoid a disruption in PBCA activities. If HUD determines that a legislative proposal is necessary, HUD is directed to work with relevant stakeholders to ensure any potential legislative proposal results in effective and efficient oversight and monitoring of the PBRA program, quality services offered to property owners in each state, and maintains safe, stable, and affordable housing for the over 1,300,000 households living in PBRA properties across the country. The agreement recognizes that HUD faces a complicated task of developing new PBCA arrangements before the existing agreements expire and expects the Department to liaise with the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, the House Committee on Financial Services, and the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs on any necessary changes.”

This strategy should only be used when all other methods of preservation are exhausted and should prioritize properties that are near maturity.
