NAHMA March Meeting Puts You in the Room With the Experts

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 27, 2025 — The National Affordable Housing Management Association (NAHMA) Biannual Top Issues in Affordable Housing conference puts you in the room with specialists and allows you to ask questions about the subjects most important to your communities. The multiday meeting, taking place March 19-21 in Washington, D.C., will highlight panels concentrating on affordable housing practitioners' issues and educational topics for navigating today's world led by experts in their fields. Register to attend the meeting today.

The annual meeting features several educational panels geared explicitly toward the affordable housing industry. Bob Simpson, the president of the Multifamily Impact Council, will provide the keynote address. Invited guests include representatives from the Housing and Urban Development and Agriculture departments and more. Panels containing government officials and other special guests are not open to the media and may not be recorded. Event registration includes admission to all sessions and open committee meetings, the Communities of Quality Awards luncheon and panel discussion, and the Industry Awards ceremony.

The preliminary agenda has been updated and is available on the Meetings webpage. The NAHMA meeting is made possible by Platinum sponsors RealPage and ResMan. While in the nation's capital, preschedule meetings with your congressional delegation and their key staff members to educate lawmakers on affordable housing issues vital to you.

The winter meeting occurs at the Fairmont Washington, 2401 M St. NW, Washington, D.C., March 19-21. The room block at the Fairmont is full. For more information regarding the meeting, contact Brenda Moser by calling 703-683-8630, ext. 1, or emailing brenda.moser@nahma.org.

For meeting sponsorship opportunities, please email Paul Walley at PWalley@naylor.com.

Please share your thoughts, ideas, questions for panelists, and excitement about the upcoming March meeting using #nahma and tagging NAHMA on Facebook, LinkedIn, and X (formerly Twitter). Let us know what you think is the most pressing issue facing the affordable housing industry in 2025.

NAHMA is the leading voice for the affordable housing management industry, promoting developing, managing and preserving quality affordable multifamily housing.
