NAHMA Issues RFP for Website Redesign

Alexandria, Va., March 31, 2025 — The National Affordable Housing Management Association (NAHMA) seeks a comprehensive redesign to its website to make it visually appealing and user-friendly and improve functionality for staff and members. To facilitate this process, NAHMA is issuing a request for proposal (RFP) to outsource the project to a contractor specializing in state-of-the-art website design and architecture to improve all design and performance aspects of the NAHMA website. Download the RFP, which can be found on NAHMA's home page.

Responses to the RFP are due May 5.

The primary purpose of the redesigned NAHMA website is to provide information to its members. That information includes Membership, portal entrance for Trends online community forum, Affordable 100 list, Advocacy, Government Updates, Meetings, Educational opportunities, Awards and Contests, and a Members-Only section. The information needs to be able to be provided through different mediums (i.e., webpages, press releases, PDF links, video, etc.). The site must also allow members to complete financial transactions. Additionally, the redesign should enable future integration with the association's database.
